Dear Sir/Madam

Re: Mr Alfred Anate Mayaki

I am happy to provide an academic reference for Mr Alfred Anate Mayaki in support of their application.

Mr Mayaki is working towards an MSc in Human Resource Management which requires 180 credits in total to complete. We can provide further specific information about the content of the modules studied if you require it.

Mr Mayaki has previously studied:

B810, The role of the human resource professional, a 30-credit module which started on 04/11/2023 and finished on 30/04/2024

B812, Evidence-based value in people management, a 30-credit module, which started on 04/11/2023 and finished on 30/04/2024

Mr Mayaki is currently studying:

B811, Human resource management in context, a 30-credit module, which started on 03/05/2025 and is due to finish on 31/10/2025.

The Open University is incorporated by Royal Charter (RC 000391), an exempt charity in England & Wales and a charity registered in Scotland (SC 038302). The Open University is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

B814, Learning and development at work, a 30-credit module, which started on 03/05/2025 and is due to finish on 31/10/2025.

Mr Mayaki will then need to complete the following modules to complete their qualification:

B813, Employment relations and employee engagement.

B894, Dissertation (HRM).

The distance learning system of The Open University requires students to have a high level of self-motivation and the ability to work independently, carefully plan work schedules and sustain enthusiasm for the subject. We know our students adapt rapidly and very efficiently to the demands of difficult tasks. I am happy to confirm that Mr Mayaki has proven this in their commitment and self-discipline to successfully complete OU study.

In successfully completing OU study, Mr Mayaki has demonstrated the following personal attributes:

- A high degree of personal motivation
- Excellent time and study management techniques
- An ability to be an effective, versatile and independent learner

Mr Mayaki has also demonstrated a range of valuable and transferable academic skills:

- Communicating clearly and accurately in English
- Using information technology and information literacy skills to search for, exchange, process and evaluate information
- Awareness of, and respect for, the perspectives and experiences of others
- Framing and addressing problems, questions and issues
- Demonstrating logical thought and the ability to form a clearly structured argument
- Using established ideas and techniques of critical analysis and enquiry in evaluating information, arguments and assumptions
- Planning, monitoring and evaluation of their learning and performance
